INTRODUCTION

To solve sudoku puzzles, all you need to know is this one simple rule:

Fill in the boxes so that the nine rows, the nine columns, and the nine 3×3 sections all contain every digit from 1 to 9.

And that's all there is to it! An example puzzle and solution can be found on pages 7-9.

Ninja Sudoku is a four-book series, and the entire difficulty gamut is covered, from beginner to wickedly tough.

In Enter the Ninja Sudoku, you can begin gently with some entry-level puzzles, and by the end of the book the puzzles are of medium difficulty. Only basic to intermediate techniques are required, and the intermediate ones are not used in combination.

In Revenge of the Ninja Sudoku, the puzzles range from "easy medium" to "hard medium." Although only basic and intermediate techniques are required, they may be used in greater percentages, and in combination.

In Master Ninja Sudoku, we start entering the realm of truly hard sudoku. The vast majority of newspaper and magazine sudoku puzzles, even the ones labeled “hard” or “challenger,” are easier than most of the puzzles you will find in this Ninja book and the next. The advanced techniques you will find include X-wings, Gordonian rectangles, Gordonian rectangles plus, and one-sided Gordonian rectangles.

In Ultimate Ninja Sudoku, we pull out all the stops for some real head-banging. These puzzles require the most advanced techniques, with intimidating names like swordfish, jellyfish, XY-wings, XYZ-wings, alternating digits, finned X-wings, Gordonian polygons, and extended Gordonian rectangles. In the toughest puzzles, these might even be used in combination.

If you're not familiar with some of the expert techniques listed above, you may want to check out the book Mensa Guide to Solving Sudoku, by Peter Gordon and me, before tackling the harder books in the series. Or you could just try diving right in. Even the hardest of the puzzles are entirely fair, never requiring you to blindly guess. You'll always be able to logically arrive at the next step somehow, and you may find yourself discovering some of the fancily named techniques that were rattled off above. (Feel free to give them your own names.)

So, whether you're in the mood for some easy, breezy solving, or some serious wrangling, the books in the Ninja Sudoku series have what you are looking for.

EXAMPLE PUZZLE

The letters at the top and left edges of the puzzle are for reference only; you won't see them in the regular puzzles.

The first number that can be filled in is an obvious one: box EN is the only blank

	A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I

K					2		1	8	4
L	9		5		7		2		6
M	1		4	3	9	2		7

Q	8	4	9		3

box in the center 3×3 section, and all the digits 1 through 9 are represented except for 5. EN must be 5.

The next box is a little trickier to discover. Consider the upper left 3×3 section of the puzzle. Where can a 4 go? It can't go in AK, BK, or CK because row K already has a 4 at IK. It can't go in BJ or BL because column B already has a 4 at BQ. It can't go in CJ because column C already has a 4 at CM. So it must go in AJ.

Another box in that same section that can now be filled is BJ. A 2 can't go in AK, BK, or CK due to the 2 at EK. The 2 at GL rules out a 2 at BL. And the 2 at CP means that a 2 can't go in CJ. So BJ must contain the 2. It is worth noting that this 2 couldn't have been placed without the 4 at AJ in place. Many of the puzzles rely on this type of steppingstone behavior.

We now have a grid as shown.

Let's examine column A. There are four blank boxes in column A; in which blank box must the 2 be placed? It can't be AK because of the 2 in EK (and the 2 in BJ). It can't be AO because of the 2 in IO. It can't be AR because of the 2 in CP. Thus, it must be AN that has the 2.

By the 9's in AL, EM, and CQ, box BN must be 9. Do you see how?

We can now determine the value for box IM. Looking at row M and then column I, we find all the digits 1 through 9 are represented but 8. IM must be 8.

This brief example of some of the techniques leaves us with the grid above.

O		7		1	4	8	9		2

You should now be able to use what you learned to fill in CN followed by BL, then HL followed by DL and FL.

As you keep going through this puzzle, you'll find it gets easier as you fill in more. And as you keep working through the puzzles in this book, you'll find it gets easier and more fun each time. The final answer is shown at right.
